How HEI Provides Impartial Science

HEI Energy Special Project: Design of a Cumulative Impact Assessment for an Oil and Gas Community in the United States

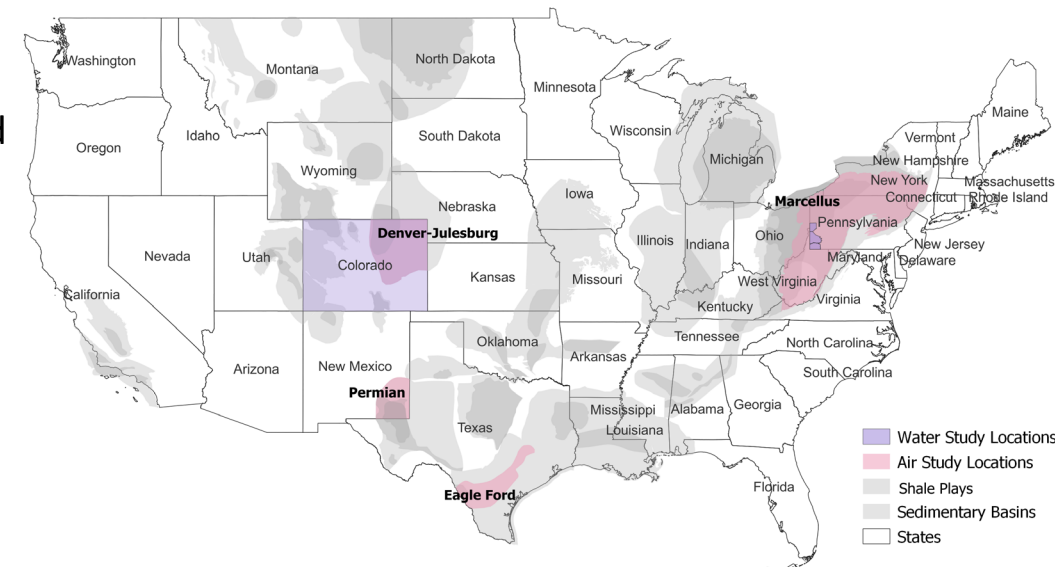

HEI Energy is spearheading the design of a Cumulative Impact Assessment for a representative oil and gas community in the United States*

Focus

- Impacts that are most important for understanding influences of oil and gas development on the health and well-being of individuals and communities
- Chemical and non-chemical stressors from the built, natural, and social environments
- Drawing on experiences from oil and gas communities across the U.S., emphasis on current HEI Energy-funded study locations

Objectives

- Support decision-making about how best to ensure the protection of public health
- Synthesize what is already known from unconventional oil and gas development exposures and health and well being
- Inform decision-makers, communities, and others implementing cumulative impact assessments
- Educate on cumulative impacts research

Thank you!

- HEI will make the webinar available on our website in the coming weeks: <https://HEIenergy.org/>
- Stay tuned for announcement of next webinar in this series!
- In the meantime, stay up to date!
